> Workplace Training

Workplace training is an integral part of education at Australian Professional Skills Institute. Workplace training is an innovative, industry focused, flexible approach to training that provides students with hands-on experience. Students are able to apply their newly acquired knowledge and skills, gained from APSI, in a real work environment.

APSI has an extensive industry network and appropriate arrangements in place for the supervision and assessment of all students who undertake workplace training. Many students are offered paid casual/part-time employment after workplace training. The main benefits of workplace training to students include 'earn while you learn', experiencing a cross-section of roles in real life establishments and an opportunity to trial a future career. Workplace training provides students with an edge in their next career move and prepares them to be ready to work in an Australian workplace.

While students are on workplace training, they are allowed to work 20 hours per week as part of the practical work experience. The workplace training component is included in the duration of the course. During workplace training, assessment is achieved through APSI's workplace observation and the workplace supervisor's reports. Students are also required to complete assignments and projects related to the units in the qualification.

APSI's Workplace Training Coordinator will provide students with assistance with resume, job application and interview preparation. APSI's Workplace Assessor will keep in contact with students regularly and visit them onsite, to monitor their work experience progress, and assist with any issues that may arise.

"The combination of theory and real world workplace training I received has given me the skills and confidence to pursue the career that I want."

- Ari Satria Poejiono (Indonesia), Diploma of Hospitality Management

> About Perth

Study in one of the most liveable cities in the world!

Getting Around

International Students in Western Australia receive student concession rates which entitles them to a 40% discount on all public transportation fares. At APSI's Orientation Day, each student can apply for the Transperth Tertiary Concession Card. Free bus services (called CAT buses) are available in Perth, Fremantle and Joondalup cities as they are in the free transit zones. Students can easily get to APSI by catching the free yellow CAT and alight at stop 27 or 28. Find out more about Transperth at www.transperth.au

Living Expenses and School Age Dependents

Costs can be expected to increase by 35% if you have a spouse and a further 20% if you have one child. The cost of schooling for your child will be an additional $8,000 per year. Each additional child will add a further 15% plus $8,000 per child per year for schooling. All school-age dependents who accompany or later join you in Australia will be required to pay full fees on each child's enrolment in either a government or non-government school.

Driving in Perth
